

ABSTRACT

A facsimile which is capable of executing a plurality of jobs in parallel and which comprises a touch-sensitive screen according to the invention displays the contents of each job 5 in the order of a read job, a facsimile transmission job, a print job, and a facsimile reception job on the touch-sensitive screen (displays the contents of each job without selecting the type of job whose contents are to be displayed).

10